

"KANSAS COBURN" CALL HOG GENTLE-MAN AND ALFALFA MORTGAGE CHASER

Former Secretary Gives His Chautauqua Lecture Full of Sense and Humor About Hog—Pleads for Wider Growing of Alfalfa

"Give a pig time and he will make a hog of himself is an old saying," said F. D. Coburn, ex-secretary of the Kansas state board of agriculture. "But the trouble is that most of us farmers are willing to give the pig too much time. He should make a hog of himself as soon as possible on the feed given."

"The hog is a gentleman. He has faced a prejudice in mankind from the beginning, perhaps because of their similarity, but at any rate we are just beginning to learn what the pork business of this country means. Missouri's hogs alone are worth 50 per cent more yearly than the gold output of Colorado."

"The multiplying of the hog will give the man who invented the multiplication table nervous fits and drive him to drink. One sow alone will pay for a good forty acres in four years if treated right. If every litter is but six pigs, half female and half male, and the sows farrow once every six months, the one sow will have produced 502 females and 501 males. In 10 years her progeny will be 72,561,410 hogs."

"The hog is a machine to which corn is fed and its value increased several times over. Corn loaned to a hog is paid back with usury. A sow is a bond and the litters are the coupons. The hog is a debt payer, a mortgage lifter and the bulwark of prosperity."

Cities Built by Hogs.
"But for the hog Chicago would be a prairie village, Kansas City a barren hill and Omaha a Missouri river ferry on the cross-continental highway. Pork is found in every camp and upon every ship; it is the food of kings and peasants. Passenger trains are side-tracked for meat specials and people on a country road give the right of way to a herd of hogs."

"The national emblem should have been the pig instead of the eagle. For Mr. Hog is a quiet, unassuming, thrifty, Christian gentleman; the eagle is a robber, a marauder, and a trouble maker who never does anything useful. The snout is for peace; talons for war. Give a hog half a chance and there is no more cleanly animal. For earth is not dirt nor is mud filth."

Few of those who heard Mr. Coburn this morning on "Some Patriotic Considerations of the Hog" knew that they were listening to a Chautauqua lecture which has been heard with delight all over the country, but particularly in the great mid-west agricultural region. It is safe to say that no more humorous lecture is given by the professional fun makers of the country."

Mr. Coburn served the state of Kansas well for twenty-one years when he retired a year ago that he might do just as he pleased, he said today. He told President Richardson to introduce him just as "Coburn of Kansas," the name by which he loves to be known."

His time now is being given to literary and platform work and to doing those many things which he has been longing to do during his busy life. He returned this afternoon to Topeka, Kan. He expects to be at Chillicothe next week."

Funny Stories About Hogs.
His whole lecture was filled with humorous stories about the pig. Much fun was derived from little essays on the razorbacks of Arkansas, which he said were built on the Swiss style of architecture. To cross him with a good breed does no good; in fact, crossing him with a railroad train seems to be the only efficient work which can be done upon a razorback."

At an Arkansas fair, a hog won first prize because he was four years old and weighed 54 pounds. That state is said to have the greatest variety of

"Try growing some alfalfa. You may not succeed at first, but that signifies nothing. Don't get down in the mouth. Remember Jonah. He came out all right. There are 1,400,000 acres of alfalfa in Kansas and it is paying 10 to 40 per cent on land worth $200 an acre. It is believed that it can be made to pay 6 and 7 per cent on land worth $1,000 an acre. And it builds up the soil instead of tearing it down. Try some alfalfa."—F. D. Coburn, ex-Secretary of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture.

hogs and the least of pork. A dressed razorback will weigh 14 pounds with the head and only 6 without it.

He is always in a hurry and goes as if he had a train to catch. The ridge of his back is six inches above the root of his tail. He is obliging about helping the neighbors harvest their corn crop; in fact, he will work nights at the job. He has great similarity to a sunfish and can drink milk from a beer bottle because his snout is so slim. Most of them need no feeding as they live on jack rabbits which they run down.

A razorback has no more comparison with a real Missouri hog than a sawhorse with a Percheron. In South Carolina the pig with the greatest speed and endurance wins all prizes for unless they can beat a nigger to the swamp, they do not live to be more than 6 months old. Truly the Arkansas hog is a wonderful reptile.

Should Be Treated Properly.
If a hog received proper treatment by being given something besides corn for all courses and by being allowed to run in a pasture with running water, he becomes a well bred animal. Whenever they go to the city they go to the bad, however. Falling in with a bunch of cut-throats, they get it in the neck and are bled to death.

Some pigs get little corn but they get everything else from sapollo to old dish rags. Most hogs are very impolite about their feeding but there is a class of the elite even among porkers. Many farmers raise hogs to get money to buy more land to raise more corn to feed to more hogs to sell and buy more land, and so on.

"The meat eaters of the world win all the conquests and do all of the great deeds. Adam and Eve would never have had any trouble had they not been confined to a fruit diet. Some one has well said that grease and grit go together. This ought to be the gristliest place in the world."

"There is much to admire and emulate in a hog. Not one was ever known to smoke or chew tobacco or to get drunk. No sow was ever heard of who thought more of chewing gum than corn or of a poodle dog than of her own offspring. Treat a hog right and he thrives and he never does anything unbecoming to a hog."

Alfalfa a Mortgage Chaser.
"It was once true that when a man and a mortgage got on a Kansas farm together the man had to get off. Now he calls in alfalfa and the mortgage 'beats it.' Alfalfa is not a new thing. There is good reason to believe that Nebuchadnezzar lived on that the year in which he was said to have lived on the grass of the field."

"It came to the United States from Asia through Spain and South America. The first car of it came into Kansas City only twenty years ago. Now that city is the world's greatest alfalfa market. It received 11,558 cars last year. If I can but get one man in

RURAL TRACK MEET SEEN

TRAINING SCHOOL GIVES DEMONSTRATION OF ATHLETICS.

Director Hanson Gave It to Show Possibilities of Events for Country Schools.

It was a three-ringed circus all right, that track meet put on by the children of the training school at the Normal yesterday afternoon.

The chief purpose for which Walter Hanson, director of athletics, was asked to prepare such a program, was that rural school teachers might see that a track meet for both boys and girls is feasible in the country schools. The teachers were asked by County Superintendent Bert Cooper to keep the programs and put on something like it next spring.

And several hundred people beside the teachers showed their interest in the play by filling the stands. The opening gun of the meet was a 50-yard dash between Cooper and Prof. W. A. Power. The county superintendent won the sprint by a few feet, but his heavier opponent pushed him hard every one of the 150 feet.

The race put the crowd in the proper spirit and the children went after the prizes with a rush. The individual star among the smaller boys was Homer Pendergrass, who seemed inclined to win whatever he tried to get. Bennett French won best among the larger boys.

Among the girls, the relay race caused the most excitement. The team which won did so because of the remarkable speed of the smallest girl there, Hazel Frede. But the team which came second, led by Doris Goforth, was barely a step behind.

French's high jump of 4 feet 8 inches for a boy in the seventh grade was notable. The winners of events of the training school track meet are as follows:

High jump—1st, Bennett French, 4 feet 8 inches; 2nd, Carl Yowell, 4 feet 6 inches.

Relay—1st, French, Faris, Argis and Yowell.

75-yard dash—1st, Bennett French; 2nd, Virgil Argis.

Sack race—1st, Pendergrass; 2nd, Allen Shupe.

Three-legged race—1st, Pendergrass and Goforth; 2nd, Ogden and Neff.

Potato race—1st, Pendergrass; 2nd, Meryl Faris.

Circle relay—1st, Misses Beulah McClaron, Mabel Robey, Mabel Raines and Lucille Elliott.

Potato shuttle race—Winning team, Beulah McClaron, Inez Wright, Mary Pryor, Elizabeth Nash, Madeline Strawn, Lucy Kienzel.

Flag relay—Winners, Mary Pryor, Elizabeth Nash, Halcyon Hooker, Doris Goforth, Lucy Kienzel, Ernest Mona.

Single relay—Annette Stiwalt, Josephine Milles, Mabel Robey, Hazel Frede; 2nd, Doris Goforth, Evelyn Raines, Charlotte Whelchel.

Nail driving contest—Tie between Martha Helpley and Mildred Howard.

WRIGHT BOOSTS MISSOURI HIGH

MAKES NATIVES PROUDER THAN EVER OF STATE.

HIS PICTURES AND FACTS SUPRISE ALL

Wonderful Material Resources and Great Enterprise of Citizens Told by Lecturer of State Board.

A man who has traveled 75,000 miles in Missouri in a few years ought to know considerable about the state. J. Kelly Wright has and does. His illustrated lecture, "Missouri," in the Normal auditorium last night kept his audience and spectators in ejaculations of wonder as new glories of the commonwealth were disclosed.

Several great men have remarked that J. Kelly Wright, lecturer for the state board of agriculture, does more boosting for the state than any other two men. And those who heard him last night were ready to believe it. One of the interesting scenes shown was a herd of Shorthorns on the farm of C. D. Bellows, near Maryville.

A picture of the Caldwell home and Aberdeen-Angus herd near Burlington Junction was shown. Another point of local interest was his statement that Gentry county was the greatest blue grass county in the world. Missouri blue grass seed is shipped back to Kentucky every year and mixed with the Kentucky seed so that the latter may weigh up to standard.

Of the fifty record holding dairy cows in the world, seventeen have been raised on the college farm of the Missouri college of agriculture at Columbia. The herd there is recognized everywhere as being the world's best college dairy herd.

That Missourians May Know.

Mr. Wright said that his lecture, and especially his slides, grew out of his desire, in going over the state, that all Missourians might come to realize the wonderful resources of the state. His lecture was by no means a dry recital of statistics, although these were frequently given.

But Mr. Wright is more than a lecturer. He is an orator, and his speech last night was filled with beautiful poetry, much of it from the pens of Missouri poets. He quoted also a large number of beautiful passages about the commonwealth and the glories of rural life.

"The two great possessions of any nation are good soil and good citizenship. When one goes down, so does the other. Historians tell us that Rome fell because of her political corruption; moralists say it was because of her prostitution; and many hundreds of reasons have been pointed out why Rome and Greece fell."

Rome Wasted Her Soil.

"But I believe firmly that back of all these supplementary causes of her decline is the fact that she wasted her soil like a prodigal, and then when it became worn out and unproductive, the people crowded into the cities and the rest of the corruption followed."

"Europe has fostered for centuries a system of peasantry, when a great mass of the agricultural people do not own the land which they till and their great war is one phase of that evil. The big question in America as we face landholders and the vast number of renters is whether we shall develop a similar kind of peasantry."

"The permanent basis of agriculture is a well correlated system of cattle and grain raising. Rural communities must be developed, too, where the three great agencies of the school, church and playhouse are at their best. The school teacher and the pastor must cease to be transients."

Then began the slides and the recital of facts which made the lecture the great "Missouri booster" which it is. Mr. Wright said that he had been in zero weather on the north line of the state, and a few days later would stand by blooming rose bushes in the southern part. A soil map was shown and the conditions in the various parts

A VALUABLE ADDRESS.

The address Thursday by Hon. H. J. Waters of the Kansas Agricultural college was a most excellent and timely one. Mr. Waters is a former Missourian. He was for many years connected with the Missouri agricultural college and the state board of agriculture until other states, appreciating his great work, began to bid for his services. Kansas took him from us, and has never regretted it.

He is a broad, practical man, who digs into facts, analyzes conditions, studies cause and effect and speaks only when he has something to say. He was urged by thousands for appointment as secretary of agriculture at Washington, and was seriously considered by President Wilson, but the personal plea of the president's friend, Colonel House, was too powerful to be overcome.

Mr. Waters' address should have been heard by the farmers and business men of Nodaway county. Instead of an auditorium filled with young ladies and a dozen or so men, the hall should have been filled with substantial farmers and business men. He discussed the world's waste and the economy of our resources in a plain, practical way that laid with especial emphasis on Nodaway county. He presented some of the very suggestions The Democrat-Forum has urged from time to time and backed them with incontrovertible facts and figures.

His study and observations in this and foreign countries have taught him that we are the most extravagant people on earth and employ the most extravagant methods in doing business. Raw material is raised and shipped away to be shipped back again as a manufactured product. This lost motion in business should be eliminated. Intensive farming cannot be successful until there are bigger markets nearby. To that end farmers and town people should work together to create greater markets. Greater local markets mean more factories.

He met the oft repeated statement that we are not rightly situated to sustain factories by the statement that 81 per cent of those things necessary to factory existence come from the agricultural sections and this is the center of the greatest agricultural producing section the country has. New England, which lives from its industrial enterprises, has labor but reputation and skilled labor. Labor naturally follows employment. But this leads to a suggestion that we have made before. Industrial growth generally comes either from the necessity of doing something to sustain the population a town has or from a town spirit born of a community vision that leads to real achievement.

State Auditor Gordon may have committed indiscretions in following precedents set by former state auditors, but his arrest and persecution by petty officers of an opposing political party will not produce the results these gentlemen desire. As a state officer, Mr. Gordon, like every other public official, is subject to approval or criticism for his official acts, but petty political persecutions always benefit the man against whom they are directed in the long run. Even the Globe-Democrat denounces the act of the prosecuting attorney of Cole county, and declares it to be "as unwise as it is unjust."

A shortage of labor is beginning to confront the industrial centers of the east. This is in part due to the increased business activities, but mainly due to the decreased immigration because of the war and to the number of foreigners who have returned to their countries to take part in the war. All of which shows that the American laborer needs immigration protection and not tariff protection in normal times.

The American Traffic association recently in session decided that the best method of placing railroad time tables before the public is by placing them in the newspapers, and the old plan of advertising the arrival and departure of trains may be revived.

Where are those Chinese eggs that our Republican friends said would put the American hen out of business when the Underwood tariff law went into effect?

From later reports it seems that Henry Vogelmann of St. Joseph is still one of the bored, but he hasn't resigned, and furthermore he says he won't.

of the state explained.

Why State is So Great.

Space will not permit the repeating of all the remarkable figures which he gave, but some of the striking ones follow:

The lead and zinc output of Missouri each year exceeds in value the gold and silver output of California, Utah and Nevada.

One town in Pemiscot county last summer shipped 110 car loads of watermelons away for three weeks, and it takes forty wagon loads with the sideboards on to fill a car. One grower in the watermelon region has shipped 1,000 car loads each year for twenty-five years.

An elephant farm near Unionville has more elephants on it than any other farm in the United States, and the owner controls the elephant market in the United States.

Missouri raises as many barrels of corn as Kansas does bushels, and it takes five bushels to make a barrel. Yet Kansas says herself that her corn crop is worth more than her wheat.

In cattle and all kinds of live stock Missouri leads. The grand champion jennet at the St. Louis world's fair from the greatest jack and jennet farm in the world near Smithton, in Pettis county, was in on the money at San Francisco this year.

The world's greatest saddle horse, Rex McDonald of Mexico, Mo., who died about a year ago, was an undefeated champion from his first exhibition in Mexico till his last there.

The largest cave and the largest spring are in Missouri.

London, Oct. 29.—Memorial services were held at St. Paul's for Miss Edith Cavell. The bishop of London officiated. He honored her as a sainted heroine who had given her life for her country and Belgium. Immense crowds gathered at the cathedral. Premier Asquith was present.

GOES BROKE ON HONEYMOON.

Mishaps to Auto Put Bridal Pair in
Straits on Tour.

Muscantine, Ia.—To be owner of a large seven passenger touring car, with which you embarked upon your honeymoon, and yet be forced to apply to a welfare society for lodging for the night would be embarrassing to most bridegrooms, but it didn't take any of the joy out of life for George Garrett of Elkhardt, Ind., and his bride, who reached here en route to Seymour, Ia.

A series of mishaps drained Garrett's purse, and upon his arrival here he was forced to "hook" his extra suit to buy gasoline and, with his wife, was boarded at a local hotel at the expense of a local charity body.

GOLDEN WEDDING PAIR RETURN TO OLD HOME

Names Carved When Sweet-
hearts Still Remain.

Peabody, Kan.—For their golden wedding Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Lowther of this city went back to their old home in the West Virginia hills, which they had not visited since they were married, fifty years ago.

They joined the trek to the Kansas prairies before the Santa Fe railroad ran further west than Emporia, and the trip to Marion county was made in a prairie schooner. Here the Lowthers took up a homestead and lived, rearing eleven children, eight boys and three girls, and in all that time they never went back to their old home in Ritchie county, not even to visit.

But for the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Lowther decided to return to their old home. They were sweethearts when the civil war broke out. For four years the West Virginians wore the blue uniform of the federals. When peace was declared he went back home, back to his sweetheart, who had waited for him. The trip to the altar followed. And later they came west.

Writing from West Virginia to her son Mort of Peabody the other day, Mrs. Lowther said everything had changed back there. Even the hills had got higher than fifty years ago. But the old log cabin in which she was reared was still there, and so were the old well, the old oaken bucket and the initials of herself and Mr. Lowther which had been carved fifty years ago.

HEN LAYS PEANUT EGG.

Puzzle Now Is, Would Its Chick Have
Been Wasp Waisted?

Indianapolis, Ind.—There is some question as to which of his hens had such a grotesque idea of what an egg should look like, but anyway an egg that bore the general contour of a peanut and is a bit less than two inches from tip to tip was found in Robert Arnold's henroost here.

The kind of chicken that ultimately would have emanated from such an egg will remain a matter of mystery, for the egg was eaten. But Arnold now feels sure it would have been a fowl with a wasplike waist.

Preserved Super of Beef.

Wipe, remove superfluous fat and roll a flank of beef; put in a kettle, cover with boiling water and add one teaspoonful salt, one-half teaspoonful peppercorns, a bit of bay leaf and a bone or two which may be at hand; cook slowly until meat is in shreds. There should be but little liquor in the kettle when meat is done. Arrange meat in deep pan, pour over liquor, cover and press with a heavy weight. Serve cold, thinly sliced.

"KANSAS COBURN" CALL HOG GENTLEMEN

every community to raise alfalfa my trip is worth while for others will see its great value.

"It will grow on any soil and build it up so that other things can be grown. New York sand and gravel, Nebraska foothills Kansas prairie, our great western deserts all will raise alfalfa. It is the greatest deep tilling machine.

"Protein is the great muscle and bone builder of all plants, and alfalfa has three times as much as clover and as much as timothy, while several crops can be harvested in a year. It takes brains to grow it, and it pays for the brains."

Mr. Coburn gave a long list of letters from cattlemen and farmers of all kinds, telling of the value of alfalfa. He also told of experiments with it on cattle. Much advice was given as to the proper time for sowing and for harvesting as well as the proper care. The Farm Institute was fortunate in hearing the "Alfalfa Man" tell of "The Enchanted Herb."

Music was given by the Normal School Glee Club again this morning in the opening of the second joint session. The first lecture was upon "Insect Pests of the Household and Stored Products," by Mr. Talbert. Special attention was given to cockroaches, crickets, bed bugs, fleas, and the red louse ant, were discussed most prominently in reference to the house. The grain moth and weavils were described and the methods of exterminating them from the granary were told.

He was followed by S. D. Gromer, head of the rural economics department of the college of agriculture. His subject was "Community Plan of Cooperation." He asked the question: "Is the business and social side of farm life satisfactory?" Answering and proving that they are not, he discussed how they may be improved.

Mr. Childers spoke this afternoon in the men's section of the Farm Institute on "Manures and Fertilizers." A discussion of the proper handling of barnyard and green manures and the best time for their spreading upon the land were discussed. A description of the various good points of commercial fertilizers was also given.

Institute Notes

Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith, president of the Indiana Home Economics Association, is the biggest speaker tomorrow. She is noted for having successfully managed a large farm which her father and husband had made famous before her. She was head of the women's department of the University of Minnesota for six years. She will make the principal address of the morning session tomorrow and speak in the afternoon women's conference.

William M. Oakerson, assistant state superintendent of schools, is here today. He spoke to the teachers this afternoon. Mr. Oakerson is honored particularly by the leaders in the Corn Show for he is the father of the Nodaway County Agricultural and Domestic Association. He started it six years ago and managed it for five years, while he was county superintendent of schools of this county.

The pupils of the training school were given a Halloween party by their teachers today. All of the training schools' rooms in the Administration building of the State Normal school were decorated appropriately and the children were entertained royally with all kinds of games and refreshments.

Mrs. C. R. Green, wife of the pastor of the Harmony church, is one of the most interesting of the speakers at the Women's conference tomorrow afternoon. The first of the women's meetings was well attended this afternoon. Mrs. George H. Colbert, wife of the dean of the Normal, presides over these meetings. She is president of the Maryville Federation of Women's Clubs.

The west gymnasium is filled to running over with all kinds of home and farm products. Corn is king but the rest of the fruits of the soil are all well represented. The judges will announce the prize winners tomorrow afternoon when an inspection of the exhibit will be made by all of the visitors.

"All of us together for better homes, better farms, better towns and better schools," is the slogan of the Farm and Home Institute. It is certainly being lived up to in the addresses of the week. Particularly is this true in the intimate conferences which are held among farmers of the county and between the leading speakers and individuals.

Morning, afternoon and evening sessions keep those attending the insti-

GIRLS! THICKEN AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR AND STOP DANDRUFF

Try This! Your Hair Gets Wavy,
Glossy and Abundant at Once.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

Just so busy that many down town scarcely realize that a thousand visitors are in town. But to those who join the crowds at the Normal building, the Farm and Home Institute, the Teachers' Association, and the Agricultural and Domestic Science Association are more appreciated.

RAIN IMPROVES HEALTH

Conditions This Autumn Bettered by
Continual Precipitation—Frost
Wards Off Malaria.

That the danger of an epidemic of typhoid fever is less than usual this fall on account of the heavy rains, is the opinion of Dr. M. P. Ravenel, professor of preventive medicine in the School of Medicine of the University of Missouri at Columbia. The fact that some places in the state may have more than the usual amount of typhoid cannot be explained, says Doctor Ravenel, by local conditions.

The chief methods of natural purification of water, the M. U. doctor explains, are dilution and sedimentation. Dilution has been brought about by the heavy rains. In addition, the rains have carried waste matter from the surface of the ground and from the small streams to the large streams where it is little used for drinking.

Were it earlier, says Doctor Ravenel, malaria might be increased after the rains, but the heavy frosts several days ago have stopped the breeding of the mosquito.

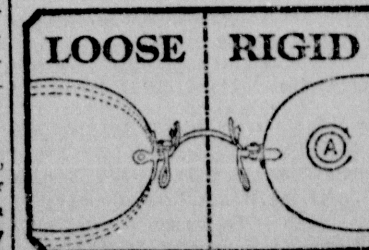

Notwithstanding the fact that no special danger is expected, the School of Medicine is taking precautions against typhoid. About 6,000 doses of anti-typhoid vaccine have been distributed this fall. This vaccine is made and standardized at Columbia and is distributed free on request to any physician in the state, with full directions for use. The making and distribution of the vaccine was begun last November, after the typhoid ravages of last year.

GREATEST PAN-AMERICAN

Congress of Western Republics Will
Gather 150 Leading Men of the Americas December 27.

Announcement was made Saturday that the preliminary arrangements are completed for the largest and most comprehensive international conference which has ever been held in the United States. From December 27, 1915, to January 8, 1916, or a period of two weeks, there will meet in Washington, D. C., the Second Pan American Scientific Congress in which all of the American Republics will participate and for which preparations have been going on for nearly two years.

According to the official reports from each of the governments now in the hands of Director General John Barrett of the Pan-American Union, who is Secretary General of the Congress, each one of the twenty-one American Republics will appoint delegations composed of its leading educators, economists, engineers, international lawyers, and experts on mining, agriculture, health, transportation and finance. From present indications, it is estimated that there will be in attendance over one hundred and fifty of the most representative men of Central and South America, or more than have ever participated in any other international conference held in America. From the United States, aside from its official delegation, there will be present over six hundred special representatives from its universities, colleges and scientific societies and organizations.

NO GAME LOST IN 10 YEARS

Coach at University of Washington Has Remarkable Record With All His Teams.

Seattle, Oct. 28.—Turn the spotlight this way please, so that it may shine upon the most remarkable football coach in the history of the college game—upon Gilmour Dobie, the unassuming pilot of the football destiny of the University of Washington in Seattle.

Dobie has been a head football for 19 years and never once over that long stretch of time have any of his eleven's suffered defeat. In those 19 years his teams have rolled up 1,699 points against 89 by their foes; they have won 53 games, been tied twice but never been beaten. Only 14 times in those 55 games has a team scored on his eleven.

The record made by Dobie is without parallel in collegiate history, a record so wonderful that it is nothing short of miraculous.

Dobie nearly died of grief last year when his team was held to a scoreless tie by Oregon agricultural. Seattle folks often have wondered what Dobie really would do if one of his teams ever lost a game. Would he assassinate the whole outfit or would he die of shock before he could reach them?

DON'T KEEP AGED CHICKENS.

Sell Old Hens Before They Eat Their Heads Off.

Now that the old hens have ceased to be productive the farmer should begin a systematic culling of his poultry flock. All hens not to be held over for next year should be sold. While the cost of keeping hens is seldom realized, they are eating valuable food. This expense with no production is cutting down the profits. Hens are rarely profitable producers after they are two years old according to H. L. Kempster of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. All old hens, especially those which bag down or "crop" behind, should be sent to the market. This year's young stock should be marked with leg bands, toe marks or otherwise so that next year the age of the hen will be known.

Hens in laying condition will have bright red combs and will show their pin bones well spread apart. This test is a sure indication. The pin bones are located just above the vent. If three or four inches apart the hen is probably laying. These points will assist materially in culling out the unprofitable producers.

Circulars prepared with special reference to Missouri farm conditions dealing with the farmer's poultry house and feeding for egg production are available on application to the College of Agriculture, Columbia, Missouri.

TO COME UP NEXT WEEK

County Court will Have to Call Special Election for $100,000 for Bridges.

The November session of the county court will meet Monday and the matter of calling a special election for the purpose of voting for $100,000 bond issue for bridges will be considered. Just one petition has been filed so far, being from Nodaway, Lincoln and Green townships, and it contains the required number of signatures and unless the petition is withdrawn, the election will have to be called.

Many are of the opinion that the bond issue is not enough for bridge purposes while there are many more saying that it will be better to get $100,000 issue than none at all. This opinion is expressed in the following editorial which is taken from this week's Burlington Junction Post:

Petitions have been presented to the county court, containing many more than the legal number of signers, asking that an election be called for the purpose of voting on a proposition to issue $100,000 bonds with which to build bridges in Nodaway county.

It was expected there would be some opposition to the movement, but the opposition, like the kaiser's reinforcement, comes from an unexpected quarter. It is not the fellow who is against bonds of any kind that is doing the hardest kicking this time. Instead, it is the man who thinks that $100,000 is not enough. Among this faction is the Skidmore New-Era, which advises the county to "shut up shop so far as bridge building is concerned and wait until the people want a bond issue sufficient to at least build all the bridges that are now out."

The editor of the New-Era probably remembers what a cry went up when $300,000 was proposed as the figure to call on. The amount was considered too high by many and the county court did the wise thing in not calling an election, for the proposition would certainly have been defeated.

But $100,000 is in the nature of a compromise figure, and will do very well at present, which statement we believe the court will endorse.

The writer was with a delegation from Nodaway and Lincoln townships that appealed to the court for a very much needed bridge across the Nodaway river. Other delegations were there for bridges that had been out all summer. But the county court was strapped. It had used its best efforts to repair the damage done by the floods with an inadequate fund, and when the money was gone the court simply had to refuse these bridges. There was no other alternative.

It was at this meeting that the $100,000 bond issue was agitated, for it was felt that $100,000 could be voted, and that amount would build the bridges that are so sorely needed in the county now. With this issue a total revenue of about $100,000 each year for three years would be available, which would put the bridges of the county in good condition, providing the seasons were normal.

Rather than go hungry, let's take the half loaf; it will go a long way toward relieving the present situation.

Letter to Mr. Pat Kegin, Maryville, Mo.

Dear Sir: But few of the men who sell the hundred different paints in the market know much about them. All Devco agents have a state chemist's certificate telling just what it's made of; they know a good deal, not only about Devco, but the rest; we see that they do. We buy every paint, that has any sale, and analyze it. Our agent finds out all about it.

When we know what a paint is made of, we know how it will act; we know how far it goes, and how long it wears. Devco is the standard; call it 100. The best of the rest is about 75; the worst about 25; the rest are between. But the men who sell them don't know any better. They know what the maker tells them. That is: they know what he tells them. They don't know whether he tells them the truth or not.

The business is not conducted on knowledge; the less they know the more comfortable they are.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVCO & CO.,

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have a bad cold.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

Quitman Club Gets Cup.

The Quitman poultry club was successful in securing the cup from the state last week, when it sent in seven more votes than the Maryville club for the prize. The state furnishes a cup to one show in a county, and should there be more than two shows the one sending the most votes of members secures the cup. H. England, secretary of the Quitman association, hustled after the votes and was rewarded by his club winning the fine cup. It will be given as sweepstakes prize at the Quitman show, which will be held November 24, 25 and 26.—Burlington Junction Post.

"KANSAS COBURN" CALL HOG GENTLEMAN AND ALFALFA MORTGAGE CHASER

"Give a pig time and he will make a hog of himself is an old saying," said F. D. Coburn, ex-secretary of the Kansas state board of agriculture. "But the trouble is that most of us farmers are willing to give the pig too much time. He should make a hog of himself as soon as possible on the feed given."

"The hog is a gentleman. He has faced a prejudice in mankind from the beginning, perhaps because of their similarity, but at any rate we are just beginning to learn what the pork business of this country means. Missouri's hogs alone are worth 50 per cent more yearly than the gold output of Colorado."

"The multiplying of the hog will give the man who invented the multiplication table nervous fits and drive him to drink. One sow alone will pay for a good forty acres in four years if treated right. If every litter is but six pigs, half female and half male, and the sows farrow once every six months, the one sow will have produced 592 females and 591 males. In 10 years her progeny will be 72,561,410 hogs."

"The hog is a machine to which corn is fed and its value increased several times over. Corn loaned to a hog is paid back with usury. A sow is a bond and the litters are the coupons. The hog is a debt payer, a mortgage lifter and the bulwark of prosperity."

Cities Built by Hogs.
"But for the hog Chicago would be a prairie village, Kansas City a barren hill and Omaha a Missouri river ferry on the cross-continental highway. Pork is found in every camp and upon every ship; it is the food of kings and peasants. Passenger trains are sidetracked for meat specials and people on a country road give the right of way to a herd of hogs."

"The national emblem should have been the pig instead of the eagle. For Mr. Hog is a quiet, unassuming, thrifty, Christian gentleman; the eagle is a robber, a marauder, and a trouble maker who never does anything useful. The snout is for peace; talons for war. Give a hog half a chance and there is no more cleanly animal. For earth is not dirt nor is mud filth."

Few of those who heard Mr. Coburn this morning on "Some Patriotic Considerations of the Hog" knew that they were listening to a Chautauqua lecture which has been heard with delight all over the country, but particularly in the great mid-west agricultural region. It is safe to say that no more humorous lecture is given by the professional fun makers of the country."

Mr. Coburn served the state of Kansas well for twenty-one years when he retired a year ago that he might do just as he pleased, he said today. He told President Richardson to introduce him just as "Coburn of Kansas," the name by which he loves to be known.

His time now is being given to literary and platform work and to doing those many things which he has been longing to do during his busy life. He returned this afternoon to Topeka, Kan. He expects to be at Chillicothe next week.

Funny Stories About Hogs.

His whole lecture was filled with humorous stories about the pig. Much fun was derived from little essays on the razorbacks of Arkansas, which he said were built on the Swiss style of architecture. To cross him with a good breed does no good; in fact, crossing him with a railroad train seems to be the only efficient work which can be done upon a razorback.

At an Arkansas fair, a hog won first prize because he was four years old and weighed 54 pounds. That state is said to have the greatest variety of

"Try growing some alfalfa. You may not succeed at first, but that signifies nothing. Don't get down in the mouth. Remember Jonah. He came out all right. There are 1,400,000 acres of alfalfa in Kansas and it is paying 10 to 40 per cent on land worth $200 an acre. It is believed that it can be made to pay 6 and 7 per cent on land worth $1,000 an acre. And it builds up the soil instead of tearing it down. Try some alfalfa."—F. D. Coburn, ex-Secretary of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture.

hogs and the least of pork. A dressed razorback will weigh 14 pounds with the head and only 6 without it.

He is always in a hurry and goes as if he had a train to catch. The ridge of his back is six inches above the root of his tail. He is obliging about helping the neighbors harvest their corn crop; in fact, he will work nights at the job. He has great similarity to a sunfish and can drink milk from a beer bottle because his snout is so slim. Most of them need no feeding as they live on jack rabbits which they run down.

A razorback has no more comparison with a real Missouri hog than a sawhorse with a Percheron. In South Carolina the pig with the greatest speed and endurance wins all prizes for unless they can beat a nigger to the swamp, they do not live to be more than 6 months old. Truly the Arkansas hog is a wonderful reptile.

Should Be Treated Properly.
If a hog received proper treatment by being given something besides corn for all courses and by being allowed to run in a pasture with running water, he becomes a well bred animal. Whenever they go to the city they go to the bad, however. Falling in with a bunch of cut-throats, they get it in the neck and are bled to death.

Some pigs get little corn but they get everything else from squalor to old dish rags. Most hogs are very impolite about their feeding but there is a class of the elite even among porkers. Many farmers raise hogs to get money to buy more land to raise more corn to feed to more hogs to sell and buy more land, and so on.

"The meat eaters of the world win all the conquests and do all of the great deeds. Adam and Eve would never have had any trouble had they not been confined to a fruit diet. Some one has well said that grease and grit go together. This ought to be the gristliest place in the world."

"There is much to admire and emulate in a hog. Not one was ever known to smoke or chew tobacco or to get drunk. No sow was ever heard of who thought more of chewing gum than corn or of a poodle dog than of her own offspring. Treat a hog right and he thrives and he never does anything unbecoming to a hog."

Alfalfa a Mortgage Chaser.
"It was once true that when a man and a mortgage got on a Kansas farm together the man had to get off. Now he calls in alfalfa and the mortgage 'beats it.' Alfalfa is not a new thing. There is good reason to believe that Nebuchadnezzar lived on that the year in which he was said to have lived on the grass of the field."

"It came to the United States from Asia through Spain and South America. The first car of it came into Kansas City only twenty years ago. Now that city is the world's greatest alfalfa market. It received 11,558 cars last year. If I can but get one man in

MAKES NATIVES PROUDER THAN EVER OF STATE.

HIS PICTURES AND FACTS SUPRISE ALL

Wonderful Material Resources and Great Enterprise of Citizens Told by Lecturer of State Board.

A man who has traveled 75,000 miles in Missouri in a few years ought to know considerable about the state. J. Kelly Wright has and does. His illustrated lecture, "Missouri," in the Normal auditorium last night kept his audience and spectators in ejaculations of wonder as new glories of the commonwealth were disclosed.

Several great men have remarked that J. Kelly Wright, lecturer for the state board of agriculture, does more boosting for the state than any other two men. And those who heard him last night were ready to believe it. One of the interesting scenes shown was a herd of Shorthorns on the farm of C. D. Bellows, near Maryville.

A picture of the Caldwell home and Aberdeen-Angus herd near Burlington Junction was shown. Another point of local interest was his statement that Gentry county was the greatest blue grass county in the world. Missouri blue grass seed is shipped back to Kentucky every year and mixed with the Kentucky seed so that the latter may weigh up to standard.

Of the fifty record holding dairy cows in the world, seventeen have been raised on the college farm of the Missouri college of agriculture at Columbia. The herd there is recognized everywhere as being the world's best college dairy herd.

That Missourians May Know.

Mr. Wright said that his lecture, and especially his slides, grew out of his desire, in going over the state, that all Missourians might come to realize the wonderful resources of the state. His lecture was by no means a dry recital of statistics, although these were frequently given.

But Mr. Wright is more than a lecturer. He is an orator, and his speech last night was filled with beautiful poetry, much of it from the pens of Missouri poets. He quoted also a large number of beautiful passages about the commonwealth and the glories of rural life.

"The two great possessions of any nation are good soil and good citizenship. When one goes down, so does the other. Historians tell us that Rome fell because of her political corruption; moralists say it was because of her prostitution; and many hundreds of reasons have been pointed out why Rome and Greece fell."

Rome Wasted Her Soil.

"But I believe firmly that back of all these supplementary causes of her decline is the fact that she wasted her soil like a prodigal, and then when it became worn out and unproductive, the people crowded into the cities and the rest of the corruption followed."

"Europe has fostered for centuries a system of peasantry, when a great mass of the agricultural people do not own the land which they till and their great war is one phase of that evil. The big question in America as we face landholders and the vast number of renters is whether we shall develop a similar kind of peasantry."

"The permanent basis of agriculture is a well correlated system of cattle and grain raising. Rural communities must be developed, too, where the three great agencies of the school, church and playhouse are at their best. The school teacher and the pastor must cease to be transients."

Then began the slides and the recital of facts which made the lecture the great "Missouri booster" which it is. Mr. Wright said that he had been in zero weather on the north line of the state, and a few days later would stand by blooming rose bushes in the southern part. A soil map was shown and the conditions in the various parts (Continued on page 2.)

RURAL TRACK MEET SEEN

TRAINING SCHOOL GIVES DEMONSTRATION OF ATHLETICS.

Director Hanson Gave It to Show Possibilities of Events for Country Schools.

It was a three-ringed circus all right, that track meet put on by the children of the training school at the Normal yesterday afternoon.

The chief purpose for which Walter Hanson, director of athletics, was asked to prepare such a program, was that rural school teachers might see that a track meet for both boys and girls is feasible in the country schools. The teachers were asked by County Superintendent Bert Cooper to keep the programs and put on something like it next spring.

And several hundred people beside the teachers showed their interest in the play by filling the stands. The opening gun of the meet was a 50-yard dash between Cooper and Prof. W. A. Power. The county superintendent won the sprint by a few feet, but his heavier opponent pushed him hard every one of the 150 feet.

The race put the crowd in the proper spirit and the children went after the prizes with a rush. The individual star among the smaller boys was Homer Pendergrass, who seemed inclined to win whatever he tried to get. Bennett French won best among the larger boys.

Among the girls, the relay race caused the most excitement. The team which won did so because of the remarkable speed of the smallest girl there, Hazel Frede. But the team which came second, led by Doris Goforth, was barely a step behind.

French's high jump of 4 feet 8 inches for a boy in the seventh grade was notable. The winners of events of the training school track meet are as follows:

High jump—1st, Bennett French, 4 feet 8 inches; 2nd, Carl Yowell, 4 feet 6 inches.

Relay—1st, French, Paris, Argis and Yowell.

75-yard dash—1st, Bennett French; 2nd, Virgil Argo.

Sack race—1st, Pendergrass; 2nd, Allen Shupe.

Three-legged race—1st, Pendergrass and Goforth; 2nd, Ogden and Neff.

Potato race—1st, Pendergrass; 2nd, Meryl Paris.

Circle relay—1st, Misses Beulah McClaron, Mabel Robey, Mabel Raines and Lucile Elliott.

Potato shuttle race—Winning team, Beulah McClaron, Inez Wright, Mary Pryor, Elizabeth Nash, Madeline Strawn, Lucy Kienzel.

Flag relay—Winners, Mary Pryor, Elizabeth Nash, Halcyon Hooker, Doris Goforth, Lucy Kienzel, Ernest Mona.

Single relay—Annette Stiwalt, Josephine Milles, Mabel Robey, Hazel Frede; 2nd, Doris Goforth, Evelyn Raines, Charlotte Whelchel.

Nail driving contest—Tie between Martha Helpley and Mildred Howard.

Announcement

We are authorized to announce Robert I. Young of Buchanan county, as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the Fourth district subject to the primary election to be held August 8, 1916.

A VALUABLE ADDRESS.

The address Thursday by Hon. H. J. Waters of the Kansas Agricultural college was a most excellent and timely one. Mr. Waters is a former Missourian. He was for many years connected with the Missouri agricultural college and the state board of agriculture until other states, appreciating his great work, began to bid for his services. Kansas took him from us, and has never regretted it.

He is a broad, practical man, who digs into facts, analyzes conditions, studies cause and effect and speaks only when he has something to say. He was urged by thousands for appointment as secretary of agriculture at Washington, and was seriously considered by President Wilson, but the personal plea of the president's friend, Colonel House, was too powerful to be overcome.

Mr. Waters' address should have been heard by the farmers and business men of Nodaway county. Instead of an auditorium filled with young ladies and a dozen or so men, the hall should have been filled with substantial farmers and business men. He discussed the world's waste and the economy of our resources in a plain, practical way that laid with especial emphasis on Nodaway county. He presented some of the very suggestions The Democrat-Forum has urged from time to time and backed them with incontrovertible facts and figures.

His study and observations in this and other foreign countries have taught him that we are the most extravagant people on earth and employ the most extravagant methods in doing business. Raw material is raised and shipped away to be shipped back again as a manufactured product. This lost motion in business should be eliminated. Intensive farming cannot be successful until there are bigger markets nearby. To that end farmers and town people should work together to create greater markets. Greater local markets mean more factories.

He met the oft repeated statement that we are not rightly situated to sustain factories by the statement that 81 per cent of those things necessary to factory existence come from the agricultural sections and this is the center of the greatest agricultural producing section the country has. New England, which lives from its industrial enterprises, has nothing but reputation and skilled labor. Labor naturally follows employment. But this leads to a suggestion that we have made before. Industrial growth generally comes either from the necessity of doing something to sustain the population a town has or from a town spirit born of a community vision that leads to real achievement.

State Auditor Gordon may have committed indiscretions in following precedents set by former state auditors, but his arrest and persecution by petty officers of an opposing political party will not produce the results these gentlemen desire. As a state officer, Mr. Gordon, like every other public official, is subject to approval or criticism for his official acts, but petty political persecutions always benefit the man against whom they are directed in the long run. Even the Globe-Democrat denounces the act of the prosecuting attorney of Cole county, and declares it to be "as unwise as it is unjust."

A shortage of labor is beginning to confront the industrial centers of the east. This is in part due to the increased business activities, but mainly due to the decreased immigration because of the war and to the number of foreigners who have returned to their countries to take part in the war. All of which shows that the American laborer needs immigration protection and not tariff protection in normal times.

The American Traffic association recently in session decided that the best method of placing railroad time tables before the public is by placing them in the newspapers, and the old plan of advertising the arrival and departure of trains may be revived.

Where are those Chinese eggs that our Republican friends said would put the American hen out of business when the Underwood tariff law went into effect?

From later reports it seems that Henry Vogelmann of St. Joseph is still one of the bored, but he hasn't resigned, and furthermore he says he won't.

of the state explained.

Why State is So Great.

Space will not permit the repeating of all the remarkable figures which he gave, but some of the striking ones follow:

The lead and zinc output of Missouri each year exceeds in value the gold and silver output of California, Utah and Nevada.

One town in Pemiscot county last summer shipped 110 car loads of watermelons away for three weeks, and it takes forty wagon loads with the sideboards on to fill a car. One grower in the watermelon region has shipped 1,000 car loads each year for twenty-five years.

An elephant farm near Unionville has more elephants on it than any other farm in the United States, and the owner controls the elephant market in the United States.

Missouri raises as many barrels of corn as Kansas does bushels, and it takes five bushels to make a barrel. Yet Kansas says herself that her corn crop is worth more than her wheat.

In cattle and all kinds of live stock Missouri leads. The grand champion jennet at the St. Louis world's fair from the greatest jack and jennet farm in the world near Smithton, in Pettis county, was in on the money at San Francisco this year.

The world's greatest saddle horse, Rex McDonald of Mexico, Mo., which died about a year ago, was an undefeated champion from his first exhibition in Mexico till his last there.

The largest cave and the largest spring are in Missouri.

COMMEMORATED MISS CAVELL.

Heroine by Officials of the Government.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.
London, Oct. 29.—Memorial services were held at St. Paul's for Miss Edith Cavell. The bishop of London officiated. He honored her as a sainted heroine who had given her life for her country and Belgium. Immense crowds gathered at the cathedral. Premier Asquith was present.

GOES BROKE ON HONEYMOON.

Mishaps to Auto Put Bridal Pair in
Straits on Tour.

Muscataine, Ia.—To be owner of a large seven passenger touring car, with which you embarked upon your honeymoon, and yet be forced to apply to a welfare society for lodging for the night would be embarrassing to most bridegrooms, but it didn't take any of the joy out of life for George Garrett of Elkhart, Ind., and his bride, who reached here en route to Seymour, Ia.

A series of mishaps drained Garrett's purse, and upon his arrival here he was forced to "hook" his extra suit to buy gasoline and, with his wife, was boarded at a local hostelry at the expense of a local charity body.

GOLDEN WEDDING PAIR RETURN TO OLD HOME

hearts Still Remain.

Peabody, Kan.—For their golden wedding Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Lowther of this city went back to their old home in the West Virginia hills, which they had not visited since they were married, fifty years ago.

They joined the trek to the Kansas prairies before the Santa Fe railroad ran further west than Emporia, and the trip to Marion county was made in a private schooner. Here the Lowthers took up a homestead and lived, rearing eleven children, eight boys and three girls, and in all that time they never went back to their old home in Ritchie county, not even to visit.

But for the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Lowther decided to return to their old home. They were sweethearts when the civil war broke out. For four years the West Virginians wore the blue uniform of the federals. When peace was declared he went back home, back to his sweetheart, who had waited for him. The trip to the altar followed. And later they came west.

Writing from West Virginia to her son Mort of Peabody the other day, Mrs. Lowther said everything had changed back there. Even the hills had got higher than fifty years ago. But the old log cabin in which she was reared was still there, and so were the old well, the old oaken bucket and the initials of herself and Mr. Lowther which had been carved fifty years ago.

HEN LAYS PEANUT EGG.

Puzzle Now Is, Would Its Chick Have
Been Wasp Waisted?

Indianapolis, Ind.—There is some question as to which of his hens had such a grotesque idea of what an egg should look like, but anyway an egg that bore the general contour of a peanut and is a bit less than two inches from tip to tip was found in Robert Arnold's henroost here.

The kind of chicken that ultimately would have emanated from such an egg will remain a matter of mystery, for the egg was eaten. But Arnold now feels sure it would have been a fowl with a wasplike waist.

Pressed Flank of Beef.

Wipe, remove superfluous fat and roll a flank of beef; put in a kettle, cover with boiling water and add one teaspoonful salt, one-half teaspoonful peppercorns, a bit of bay leaf and a bone or two which may be at hand; cook slowly until meat is in shreds. There should be but little liquor in the kettle when meat is done. Arrange meat in deep pan, pour over liquor, cover and press with a heavy weight. Serve cold, thinly sliced.

"KANSAS COBURN" CALL HOG GENTLEMEN

every community to raise alfalfa my trip is worth while for others will see its great value.

"It will grow on any soil and build it up so that other things can be grown. New York sand and gravel, Nebraska foothills Kansas prairie, our great western deserts all will raise alfalfa. It is the greatest deep tilling machine.

"Protein is the great muscle and bone builder of all plants, and alfalfa has three times as much as clover and as much as timothy, while several crops can be harvested in a year. It takes brains to grow it, and it pays for the brains."

Mr. Coburn gave a long list of letters from cattlemen and farmers of all kinds, telling of the value of alfalfa. He also told of experiments with it on cattle. Much advice was given as to the proper time for sowing and for harvesting as well as the proper care. The Farm Institute was fortunate in hearing the "Alfalfa Man" tell of "The Enchanted Herb."

Music was given by the Normal School Glee Club again this morning in the opening of the second joint session. The first lecture was upon "Insect Pests of the Household and Stored Products," by Mr. Talbert. Special attention was given to cockroaches, crickets, bed bugs, fleas, and the red house ant, were discussed most prominently in reference to the house. The grain moth and weavils were described and the methods of exterminating them from the granary were told.

He was followed by S. D. Gromer, head of the rural economics department of the college of agriculture. His subject was "Community Plan of Co-operation." He asked the question: "Is the business and social side of farm life satisfactory?" Answering and proving that they are not, he discussed how they may be improved.

Mr. Childers spoke this afternoon in the men's section of the Farm Institute on "Manures and Fertilizers." A discussion of the proper handling of barnyard and green manures and the best time for their spreading upon the land were discussed. A description of the various good points of commercial fertilizers was also given.

Institute Notes

Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith, president of the Indiana Home Economics Association, is the biggest speaker tomorrow. She is noted for having successfully managed a large farm which her father and husband had made famous before her. She was head of the women's department of the University of Minnesota for six years. She will make the principal address of the morning session tomorrow and speak in the afternoon women's conference.

William M. Oakerson, assistant state superintendent of schools, is here today. He spoke to the teachers this afternoon. Mr. Oakerson is honored particularly by the leaders in the Corn Show for he is the father of the Nodaway County Agricultural and Domestic Association. He started it six years ago and managed it for five years, while he was county superintendent of schools of this county.

The pupils of the training school were given a Hallowe'en party by their teachers today. All of the training schools' rooms in the Administration building of the State Normal school were decorated appropriately and the children were entertained royally with all kinds of games and refreshments.

Mrs. C. R. Green, wife of the pastor of the Harmony church, is one of the most interesting of the speakers at the Women's conference tomorrow afternoon. The first of the women's meetings was well attended this afternoon. Mrs. George H. Colbert, wife of the dean of the Normal, presides over these meetings. She is president of the Maryville Federation of Women's Clubs.

The west gymnasium is filled to running over with all kinds of home and farm products. Corn is king but the rest of the fruits of the soil are all well represented. The judges will announce the prize winners tomorrow afternoon when an inspection of the exhibit will be made by all of the visitors.

"All of us together for better homes, better farms, better towns and better schools," is the slogan of the Farm and Home Institute. It is certainly being lived up to in the addresses of the week. Particularly is this true in the intimate conferences which are held among farmers of the county and between the leading speakers and individuals.

Morning, afternoon and evening sessions keep those attending the insti-

GIRLS! THICKEN AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR AND STOP DANDRUFF

Try This! Your Hair Gets Wavy,
Glossy and Abundant at Once.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

Just so busy that many down town scarcely realize that a thousand visitors are in town. But to those who join the crowds at the Normal building, the Farm and Home Institute, the Teachers' Association, and the Agricultural and Domestic Science Association are more appreciated.

RAIN IMPROVES HEALTH

Conditions This Autumn Bettered by
Continual Precipitation.—Frost
Wards Off Malaria.

That the danger of an epidemic of typhoid fever is less than usual this fall on account of the heavy rains, is the opinion of Dr. M. P. Ravenel, professor of preventive medicine in the School of Medicine of the University of Missouri at Columbia. The fact that some places in the state may have more than the usual amount of typhoid cannot be explained, says Doctor Ravenel, by local conditions.

The chief methods of natural purification of water, the M. U. doctor explains, are dilution and sedimentation. Dilution has been brought about by the heavy rains. In addition, the rains have carried waste matter from the surface of the ground and from the small streams to the large streams where it is little used for drinking.

Were it earlier, says Doctor Ravenel, malaria might be increased after the rains, but the heavy frosts several days ago have stopped the breeding of the mosquito.

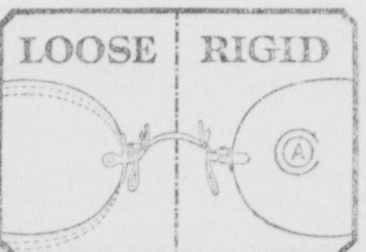

Notwithstanding the fact that no special danger is expected, the School of Medicine is taking precautions against typhoid. About 6,000 doses of anti-typhoid vaccine have been distributed this fall. This vaccine is made and standardized at Columbia and is distributed free on request to any physician in the state, with full directions for use. The making and distribution of the vaccine was begun last November, after the typhoid ravages of last year.

GREATEST PAN-AMERICAN

Congress of Western Republics Will
Gather 150 Leading Men of the Announcement was made Saturday that the preliminary arrangements are completed for the largest and most comprehensive international conference which has ever been held in the United States. From December 27, 1915, to January 8, 1916, or a period of two weeks, there will meet in Washington, D. C., the Second Pan American Scientific Congress in which all of the American Republics will participate and for which preparations have been going on for nearly two years.

According to the official reports from each of the governments now in the hands of Director General John Barrett of the Pan-American Union, who is Secretary General of the Congress, each one of the twenty-one American Republics will appoint delegations composed of its leading educators, economists, engineers, international lawyers, and experts on mining, agriculture, health, transportation and finance. From present indications, it is estimated that there will be in attendance over one hundred and fifty of the most representative men of Central and South America, or more than have ever participated in any other international conference held in America. From the United States, aside from its official delegation, there will be present over six hundred special representatives from its universities, colleges and scientific societies and organizations.

NO GAME LOST IN 10 YEARS

Coach at University of Washington Has Remarkable Record With All His Teams.

Seattle, Oct. 28.—Turn the spotlight this way, please, so that it may shine upon the most remarkable football coach in the history of the college game—upon Gilmour Dobie, the unassuming pilot of the football destiny of the University of Washington in Seattle.

Dobie has been a head football for 10 years and never once over that long stretch of time have any of his eleven's suffered defeat. In those 10 years his teams have rolled up 1,639 points against 89 by their foes; they have won 53 games, been tied twice but never were beaten. Only 14 times in those 55 games has a team scored on his eleven.

The record made by Dobie is without parallel in collegiate history, a record so wonderful that it is nothing short of miraculous.

Dobie nearly died of grief last year when his team was held to a scoreless tie by Oregon agricultural. Seattle folks often have wondered what Dobie really would do if one of his teams ever lost a game. Would he assassinate the whole outfit or would he die of shock before he could reach them?

DON'T KEEP AGED CHICKENS.

Sell Old Hens Before They Eat Their Heads Off.

Now that the old hens have ceased to be productive the farmer should begin a systematic culling of his poultry flock. All hens not to be held over for next year should be sold. While the cost of keeping hens is seldom realized, they are eating valuable food. This expense with no production is cutting down the profits. Hens are rarely profitable producers after they are two years old according to H. L. Kempster of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. All old hens, especially those which bag down or "crop" behind, should be sent to the market. This year's young stock should be marked with leg bands, toe marks or otherwise so that next year the age of the hen will be known.

Hens in laying condition will have bright red combs and will show their pin bones well spread apart. This test is a sure indication. The pin bones are located just above the vent. If three or four inches apart the hen is probably laying. These points will assist materially in culling out the unprofitable producers.

Circulars prepared with special reference to Missouri farm conditions dealing with the farmer's poultry house and feeding for egg production are available on application to the College of Agriculture, Columbia, Missouri.

Mrs. Ferdinand Michau Townsend gave a eucbre and tea yesterday in honor of Miss Mildred Robinson, whose marriage to Mr. Edward Wright Gray, takes place tomorrow. The color motif was white and this was employed in every detail. The eucbre favor was won by Mrs. Oliver K. Bovard and the domino favor by Miss Wilfley. The tea table was spread with cluny lace and lighted with white candles in crystal holders with bows of white tulle. The flowers were valley lilies and from the dome was suspended a shower of white ribbons and lilies of the valley, and the table was centered with a large basket of bride roses. Mrs. E. L. Townsend assisted the hostess in entertaining. The guests were limited to the "Mum" and "Humdrum" club members, relatives and a few close friends.

A very pretty wedding took place at eight o'clock Wednesday night at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. F. Taylor, northwest of the city, when their daughter, Sarah, became the bride of Mr. Ernest Willhoite. The home was beautifully decorated with pink and white roses, chrysanthemums and ferns. The bridal pair stood in a large bow window which has been converted into a green bower, while the words of the marriage service were read by the Rev. Robert Lyle Finch. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Finch sang, "I Love You Truly." A three-course supper followed. The hosts were assisted in entertaining by Miss Mary Taylor, Miss Grace Fisher, Miss Bernice Slates and Miss Vida Wilson. Dines Bridal Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Paul Robinson gave a dinner last night entertaining the members of the Robinson-Gray bridal party. Green and white were the colors chosen and carried throughout the menu. The table was spread with a drawn work cloth laid over green satin and the centerpiece was a large basket of white chrysanthemums and smilax. On either side was a crystal candelabra decorated with white maline bows and holding white shaded tapers. At each plate were small green and white baskets, with a silver bell suspended from the handle and containing green and white bon bons. The place cards were silver wedding bells suspended from the side of the water goblets. The favors were miniature wax figures of a bride and groom. A seven-course dinner was served. Plates were laid for Miss Robinson, Mr. Gray, Miss Carrie Margaret Baker, Miss Ruth Reuilland, Miss Marjorie Wilfley, Miss Virginia Robinson, Mr. Magnus Tate, Mrs. Ralph Eversole, the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Lyle Finch, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson. The gifts were presented after the dinner last night.

Limerick-Wolfers.

Miss Constance Limerick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Limerick of Savannah, and Mr. Maurice Wolfers, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wolfers, Jr., of Hopkins, were married Thursday at 11 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, in the presence of about seventy-five guests. The following is from the Savannah Reporter: After Mrs. J. G. Morgan had sung "Beloved, It Is Morn," accompanied by Mrs. Carl Lambright, as pianist, who also played the march, the bride's little sister, Dorothy, and cousin, Catherine Morgan, formed the aisle with white ribbons for the bridal party. Harry Wilson of Burlington Junction was best man and the bride's sister, Miss Winifred, was maid of honor. The bride's suit was of tan and hat to match and her corsage bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. During the sweet music of Annie Laurie, Rev. R. E. Snodgrass read the ring ceremony in the library at the improvised altar made by the profusely banked mantel with chrysanthemums. A two-course wedding breakfast was served in the dining room, which was fragrant with beautiful flowers and bright candles. Mr. and Mrs. Wolfers' romance began while they were students at Columbia University two years ago. They will

TO COME UP NEXT WEEK

County Court will Have to Call Special Election for $100,000 for Bridges.

The November session of the county court will meet Monday and the matter of calling a special election for the purpose of voting for $100,000 bond issue for bridges will be considered. Just one petition has been filed so far, being from Nodaway, Lincoln and Green townships, and it contains the required number of signatures and unless the petition is withdrawn, the election will have to be called.

Many are of the opinion that the bond issue is not enough for bridge purposes while there are many more saying that it will be better to get $100,000 issue than none at all. This opinion is expressed in the following editorial which is taken from this week's Burlington Junction Post:

Petitions have been presented to the county court, containing many more than the legal number of signers, asking that an election be called for the purpose of voting on a proposition to issue $100,000 bonds with which to build bridges in Nodaway county.

It was expected there would be some opposition to the movement, but the opposition, like the kaiser's reinforcement, comes from an unexpected quarter. It is not the fellow who is against bonds of any kind that is doing the hardest kicking this time. Instead, it is the man who thinks that $100,000 is not enough. Among this faction is the Skidmore New-Era, which advises the county to "shut up shop so far as bridge building is concerned and wait until the people want a bond issue sufficient to at least build all the bridges that are now out."

The editor of the New-Era probably remembers what a cry went up when $300,000 was proposed as the figure to call on. The amount was considered too high by many and the county court did the wise thing in not calling an election, for the proposition would certainly have been defeated.

But $100,000 is in the nature of a compromise figure, and will do very well at present, which statement we believe the court will endorse.

The writer was with a delegation from Nodaway and Lincoln townships that appealed to the court for a very much needed bridge across the Nodaway river. Other delegations were there for bridges that had been out all summer. But the county court was strapped. It had used its best efforts to repair the damage done by the floods with an inadequate fund, and when the money was gone the court simply had to refuse these bridges. There was no other alternative.

It was at this meeting that the $100,000 bond issue was agitated, for it was felt that $100,000 could be voted, and that amount would build the bridges that are so sorely needed in the county now. With this issue a total revenue of about $100,000 each year for three years would be available, which would put the bridges of the county in good condition, providing the seasons were normal.

Rather than go hungry, let's take the half loaf; it will go a long way toward relieving the present situation.

Letter to Mr. Pat Kegin, Maryville, Mo.

Dear Sir: But few of the men who sell the hundred different paints in the market know much about them. All Devco agents have a state chemist's certificate telling just what it's made of; they know a good deal, not only about Devco, but the rest; we see that they do. We buy every paint, that has any sale, and analyze it. Our agent finds out all about it.

When we know what a paint is made of, we know how it will act; we know how far it goes, and how long it wears.

Devco is the standard; call it 100. The best of the rest is about 75; the worst about 25; the rest are between.

But the men who sell them don't know any better. They know what the maker tells them. That is: they know what he tells them. They don't know whether he tells them the truth or not.

The business is not conducted on knowledge; the less they know the more comfortable they are.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVCO & CO.,
New York, Chicago and Kansas City.

Quitman Club Gets Cup.

The Quitman poultry club was successful in securing the cup from the state last week, when it sent in seven more votes than the Maryville club for the prize. The state furnishes a cup to one show in a county, and should there be more than two shows the one sending the most votes of members secures the cup. H. England, secretary of the Quitman association, hustled after the votes and was rewarded by his club winning the fine cup. It will be given as sweepstakes prize at the Quitman show, which will be held November 24, 25 and 26.—Burlington Junction Post.
